Rhetoric 1 and 2

1942-1943

Students are expected at the beginning of the course to make themselves thoroughly familiar with all items in this manual—preceding the calendar—and will be responsible for the observation of all directions and regulations here given.

Assignments in the calendar will apply as printed except when altered by the instructor. When no assignment is given in class, the printed assignment will apply.

Textbooks

Rhetoric 1 and 2 Manual and Calendar for 1942-1943.

Harbrace Handbook of English—Hodges. Harcourt, Brace and Company, 1941.

Webster's Collegiate Dictionary (Fifth edition).

For Rhetoric 1 only: Student Prose Models—Roberts and Trelease. Farrar and Rinehart, 1940.

For Rhetoric 2 only: Models and Motivations—Templeman, Roberts, and Trelease. Thomas Nelson and Sons, 1941.

Special section supplementary workbooks:

For Rhetoric 1 only: Preface to Writing—Hamilton. Odyssey Press, 1941.

For Rhetoric 2 only: Toward Better English—Hook and Ekstrom. J. B. Lippincott, 1941.

Recommended for all sections but not required:

How to Write Better Examinations—Hook. Barnes and Noble, 1942.

Objectives of Rhetoric of 1 and 2

Rhetoric 1 and 2 are intended to teach the student to express himself with clearness and force. While at the University, he is required to write reports and examinations for various courses in almost all departments. Rhetoric 1 and 2 should assist him to write these reports and examinations correctly and well. They also should assist him to express himself adequately in the practical affairs of life after he leaves the University.

In Rhetoric 1, the student should strive—

1. To improve in his ability to write. To this end, he will be asked, whenever he is assigned a subject, (a) to find a significant thesis or main idea regarding it; (b) to divide his composition into component parts; and (c) to develop these parts by definition, by details, by illustration, by comparison, or by other methods so that the main idea will be interestingly and clearly presented. The finished composition should show an orderly and purposeful progression of thought. Themes will be from 350 to 600 words in length.
2. *To improve in his ability to use words, sentences, and paragraphs—*that is, (a) to use concrete words that exactly fit his thought; (b) to write sentences that are clear and forceful; and (c) to compose paragraphs that adequately develop a distinct phase of the subject. In Rhetoric 1, the student should develop a critical sense which will enable him to detect errors and illogicalities in his writing and to improve it accordingly.
3. *To improve in his ability to read prose—*that is, improve in his ability (a) to understand words; (b) to distinguish between main points and subordinate points; (c) to see the relation of the parts to each other and to the whole; and (d) to discover the main idea.

In Rhetoric 2, the student should strive—

1. To improve in his ability to write term reports and short articles such as he is called upon to write in various departments of the University. To this end, he will be asked in Rhetoric 2 to write, in addition to shorter themes, several themes 1,200 to 1,500 words in length.
2. To acquire greater skill and force than in Rhetoric 1, (a) in using words; (b) in constructing sentences; (c) in composing paragraphs; and (d) in organizing the composition as a whole.
3. To broaden his resources for obtaining information and to improve in his ability to evaluate prose. To these ends, he (a) will be familiarized with the main works of reference in the University Library and (b) will be asked to discover underlying assumptions, both stated and unstated, and to apply tests for evaluating the evidence used in the assigned essays.

Directions for Preparing Manuscript

Write on theme paper, one side only, with ink, and get clearly legible results.

If themes are typed, unruled white paper, $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$, of medium weight should be used, and lines should be double-spaced; thin or flimsy paper will not be accepted.

Write the title of each theme at the top of the first page beginning on the first ruled line, and capitalize the first letter of each important word. Leave a space equivalent to one blank line between the title and the beginning of the theme.

Leave a margin of about one and one-half inches at the left side of each page. Do not crowd the right side of the page.

Indent the first line of each paragraph about an inch.

Number the pages of every theme over two pages in length.

Draw a horizontal line through words to be disregarded by the reader; do not enclose them in brackets or parentheses.

Fold themes once, lengthwise to the right, and endorse them on the back of the left flap near the top on the lines provided for that purpose.

Each endorsement must give, in the following order:

1. Name of course, number of section, and name of instructor;
2. name of student (last name first); 3. date on which theme is written; 4. theme number in Arabic numerals; 5. title of theme.
The correct form is given below:

Rhetoric 1, A1—Mr. Jones

Smith, John

September 18, 1942

Why I Came to College

Directions for Handling Themes

Late themes will not be accepted by the instructor except by special arrangement. Unless the student is ill, this arrangement should preferably be made in advance. Delayed themes may not be made up at the rate of more than two a week, and will not be accepted within the last two weeks prior to the last class meeting.

No one who is delinquent in the written work of the semester will be given credit in the course.

Themes are to be revised in red ink and returned to the instructor at the next meeting of the class after they are received by the student. The student should mark the date of revision below the grade or comment on the back of the theme.

Themes should not be rewritten unless the instructor so directs. When a theme is rewritten, the new copy should be endorsed like the original as to number and date, should be marked in red ink "Rewritten" just below the endorsement, and both the original and the rewritten copies, folded separately, should be returned to the instructor.

Credit is not given for themes until they are returned in revised or rewritten form for filing.

Students should make copies of papers they wish to preserve, as themes are kept on file until the close of the year and are then destroyed.

Honesty in Written Work

Although most students are honest, a frank discussion of dishonest writing will be helpful for those persons who might innocently or unthinkingly step beyond proper bounds. Literary theft is known as plagiarism and consists in representing as one's own, ideas or statements which belong to another. Plagiarism is always a serious offense. Dishonesty in written work will be promptly reported to the faculty committee on discipline, and is usually punished by dismissal from the course, without credit. Students are therefore cautioned against—

1. Literally repeating, without acknowledgement, phrases, sentences, or larger units of discourse from another writer or from one's own previous composition.
2. The use of another's main headings or of a general plan, or the expansion of a synopsis of another's work.
3. Permitting one's work to be copied, in whole or in part. (Students who permit their work to be copied are subject to disciplinary action.)

A literary debt may be acknowledged by incidental reference to the source, either (a) by means of a phrase in the text, or (b) by use of a footnote.

Value of Grades

As nearly as possible, a fixed standard of grades is maintained throughout each semester. Thus a theme written in September is held to the same requirements as a theme written in January. Students who acquaint themselves with the objectives of the course and who strive to attain them are likely to experience a definite improvement in their grades as the semester advances. The standard is higher in the second semester than in the first. In general, Rhetoric 2 is as much beyond the Rhetoric 1 level as Rhetoric 1 is beyond the high school level, with a corresponding change in the value of grades.

Theme grades range from A to E. Plus and minus signs attached to grades are often temporarily helpful, but signify nothing in the final record. Students should ask their instructors to explain grades and comments not clearly understood.

- A: A theme is graded A if it is of exceptional merit in form and content. Excellence of any kind—freshness of treatment, interest, originality in thought—will be given due recognition, but it must, in this course, be accompanied by accuracy and soundness in detail of structure. The instructor is quite as anxious to read interesting or brilliant themes as the student is to write them.
- B: A theme definitely better than the average in form and content, but not of the highest excellence, is graded B. The grade indicates that the instructor is very favorably impressed.
- C: C is the average grade. A theme graded C is mechanically accurate, offers some variety of sentence construction and effectiveness of diction, is satisfactorily paragraphed, is satisfactorily organized as a whole, and is at least fair in content.
- D: D indicates the lowest quality of work for which credit is given. It is an unsatisfactory grade and often indicates a grave doubt in the mind of the instructor. It is therefore a danger sign.

E: A grade of E means work too inferior for credit. Errors to be specially guarded against are listed below. Students are cautioned against repeating errors in successive themes.

Faults in the details of writing:

- Misspelled words
- Incomplete sentences
- Commas between sentences
- Sentences with violent changes in construction
- Straggling sentences
- Unclear or illogical sentences or diction
- Bad errors in grammar

Faults in form and content:

- Carelessness in the preparation of manuscript
- A marked failure to paragraph properly
- Straying from the subject
- A marked lack of coherence
- Inadequacy of content

Spelling Test

The student's proficiency in spelling will be determined by his themes and, in addition, by a special spelling test (or tests) based on the section on spelling in his rhetoric text. In this test the student is expected to make a grade of at least ninety per cent. This statement does not mean that if a student makes a grade, let us say, of eighty-eight per cent, he will fail in the course. In general, however, illiterate spelling is regarded as a sufficient cause for failure. A low grade in the test and poor spelling in themes are therefore to be guarded against.

Vocabulary Building

An adequate and effective vocabulary is an invaluable aid in oral and written expression. Every student should seek to enlarge his present vocabulary by making particular note of the new words he encounters, looking up definitions, learning spellings, and making words really his own by employing them correctly in his speech and writing. To encourage vocabulary building habits, rhetoric instructors expect students to be able to spell and define all words used in course assignments.

Conferences

Instructors are available for consultation whenever students need advice regarding their rhetoric work. Occasionally instructors call students in for conference. Such conference appointments are a regular part of the course, and absence from them is regarded as a serious delinquency.

Remedial Rhetoric

Every freshman entering the university is required to take a rhetoric placement test. Students who make low grades on this test will be enrolled in special sections of rhetoric, which meet one additional hour a week for drill and intensive review of fundamentals. Students who receive a grade of D in Rhetoric 1 are required to enroll in special sections of Rhetoric 2. Special section students in Rhetoric 1 and 2 are expected to measure up to the same standards as those set for regular section students. The extra, non-credit hour of instruction is designed to enable them to complete satisfactorily the work for which they have come poorly prepared.

Students who make a grade of D in Rhetoric 2 will be required to take an additional three-hour remedial rhetoric course.

Proficiency and Special Examinations

At the beginning of semesters, proficiency examinations in Freshman Rhetoric will be offered by the English Department. Students who are successful in the Rhetoric 1 examination will be released from Rhetoric 1 with three hours of credit. Likewise, students will be released from Rhetoric 2 with three hours of credit by passing a Rhetoric 2 examination. The grades in proficiency examinations are "pass" and "not pass." Students who prepare for these examinations should note that the proficiency examinations in Rhetoric 1 and 2 will be equivalent to those given at the end of the semester in the respective courses. According to a University ruling, a proficiency examination may not be taken to remove a failure in a course.

A failure ordinarily may be made up only by repeating the course. Special examinations will not be given to make up failure to write passable themes or to hand in the required number of themes.

Final Examinations and Semester Grades

Final examinations in Rhetoric 1 and 2 are primarily tests of proficiency in English composition. Your instructor expects your final examination paper to demonstrate conclusively that you can, and will henceforth, write correctly and effectively even under pressure. In deciding on your semester grade, your instructor does not average your theme grades and indulge in mathematical calculations involving themes, recitations, tests, etc. On the basis of all such evidence, he tries to determine just how proficient you are after a semester's study and practice. He will ignore low grades made at the first of the semester if work done later indicates genuine and permanent improvement; and he will likewise ignore high early grades if later work shows increasing carelessness and lack of effort. Your instructor is always willing to explain grades, but he is not allowed to change them.

Green Caldron

The Green Caldron is a magazine in which appear some of the themes written by students in Rhetoric 1 and 2. A faculty-student committee makes the final selections from the work chosen by individual instructors. The themes chosen are not all A themes necessarily, but all are good, and each will be noteworthy as an illustration of at least one principle of successful writing. Four issues appear during the year, and to each issue at least one class recitation is devoted. Every student, therefore, is expected to provide himself, at the times indicated in the Calendar, with copies of the magazine. They may be obtained at the Illini Union Bookstore. Although the writing of poetry is not a part of the regular program of Rhetoric 1 and 2, good verse will be welcomed. Contributions of verse, or of prose voluntarily contributed, should be submitted to the instructor.

Supplementary Reading

One important aim of the course is to encourage good reading. In Room 104 of the University Library are shelved all the books listed in the Manual on pages 49-75. In accordance with plans announced by instructors, each student is asked to read at least six books, three each semester. Room 104 is open from 9 to 12, from 2 to 5, and from 7 to 10 o'clock on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays; from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 5 on Fridays; and from 9 to 12 on Saturdays. It is closed on Friday and Saturday nights and on Saturday afternoons. When Room 104 is closed, books may be returned to the North Reserve Room. Books not on the list may be read if the instructor approves.

The books may be taken out for one week, and only one book at a time. The fine on an overdue book is twenty-five cents a day until the book is returned.

BOOKS READ

READING LIST

The books on this list are shelved in the 7-Day Book Room (Room 104 of the University Library). This entire room is given over to the use of students in Rhetoric 1 and 2 in order to encourage good reading among freshmen. The books are arranged on the shelves in the same order in which the titles are listed below. Students are expected to select their books directly from the shelves with the aid of a card file containing brief descriptions of all books on the list. A librarian is always in the room to help students in the selection of books.

The hours of the 7-Day Book Room are as follows: Monday through Thursday, 9 to 12, 2 to 5, and 7 to 10; Friday, 9 to 12, and 2 to 5; Saturday, 9 to 12. The room is closed on Friday and Saturday nights and on Saturday afternoons. When the 7-Day Book Room is closed, books may be returned to the North Reserve Room.

A book may be taken out for one week, and only one book at a time. The fine on an overdue book is twenty-five cents a day until the book is returned.

The latest numbers of the Saturday Review of Literature and the book review sections of the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Times as well as a complete file of The Green Caldron are available for use in the 7-Day Book Room.
